9:00 a.m. Time Certain: CSULB President Jane Conoley

Our COVID vaccination/booster rates are rising quickly. Thank you for contributing to that. Over 11,000 students have sent in proof that they have a booster at this point

Library is open and Bookstore as well. Athletics is operating with a limited office at this time. Hoping to get up to 70% of classes in person after Feb. 7th though the virus may make this a maybe

We are about to form a taskforce charged with assessing the basic needs of Staff & Faculty. Please let us know if you are facing food and/or housing insecurity and we'll see what we can do. This may be trickier than with students, but we can take a look at one's current situation

9:15 a.m. Time Certain: Corrie O'Toole

Discussed the idea of "languishing" where one is not clinically depressed, but feels waylaid by the anxiety of not knowing what is coming next. Uncertainty creates anxiety, and anxiety prolonged can lead to this shutdown. This is happening to a lot of people, and if you'd like to talk about this, and/or access resources, you can reach out to me at the Faculty & Staff Assistance Program (FSAP) from 9a 3p during the workweek – reach out to corrie.otoole@csulb.edu

You can reach me via CAPS and you'll receive a zoom link 562.985.4001

Q: Is there a brochure that you may have?

A: You can access some related information on our website here:

Campus Repopulation: Neil Iacono:

Theme of the month has been depopulation in order to be flexible with start of the semester being virtual. About 6-7% of courses currently in person with February 7th being the tentative date to “return to campus” for most classes (*Note: Conoley later mentioned a figure around 70%). Many departments are having their staff work from home for now, however, some still require staffing for in person services

Case numbers on campus continue to be high in terms of people who are COVID positive. Not many cases where there is campus transmission, mostly off campus related

There is a booster policy being floated at the moment that will need to be discussed with the Unions. Will rely on CDC guidance

No updates at this time on the telecommute policy—is one of our priority projects and is a work in progress. Drafted policy will need to be reviewed by various groups on campus

Q: Is there going to be an increase in the turnaround on the COVID test results?

A: The latest that I’ve heard is a 3-4 day turnaround. It used to be 24 hours and the time has increased—the lab our partner uses is currently inundated with tests

Ways and Means Committee Report Nicole Torres (Alessandro Russo filling in):

We are talking about another Valentine’s Day fundraiser with See’s Candy

No openings at this time for any committees

Special Events Committee Report Christina Salvador/Kristin Bonetati:

No special events at this time—hoping things reopen soon

Announcements

The Grad Fair will now be on the week of March 21st at the Bookstore (pushed back one week) unless there are further issues with COVID variants
